

HUGHES FAMILY TREE

John Hughes, Sr. and Anna Laze* came from the County of Down, Patrick, Ireland in 1822 with three children, Hannah, John, and Alexander. They travelled in a mast boat to Kingston, Ontario and went from there to Sydenham, Ontario on a horse stage. Alexander died in infancy and was buried beside the road between Harper's Corner and Cataraqui. His body was moved to Cataraqui Cemetery. The Hughes family lived in Sydenham for four years in front of the Anglican church. John Sr. worked for Hazy Purdy, a woodranger, who found a lot unclaimed. He told John Sr. who put his initials on a stake and claimed the lot. He walked to Kingston and bought the lot (66 acres of Lot 13, Concession 6, township of Portland in the Midland district, Harrowsmith) from Sir Henry Smith, Premier of Canada, for $1 an acre plus interest, in 1835. He died before completing payment and his son John finished payment on March 6, 1849. That same year he went out to the farm and cleared a place to build a shanty. The next year the family moved to the farm. Ten years later he built a log house and barn. The house was south of the shanty and the barn north of it. When the country was surveyed, the concession came out about 8 rods south of the buildings, therefore he built a lane.

John and Anna had 6 children - Hannah (#11), John (#12), Alexander (#13), Eliza (#14), Susannah (#15), Francisca (#16).

In the 1851 census of Canada, John Sr. is shown as a farmer, belonging to the Church of England and approximately 75 years old. There is no reference to his wife Anna so she was deceased. He was living in a log house on his homestead with his children.

Hannah Hughes married George B. Snyder who was a weaver by trade. He fell from a barn that was being raised on a very windy day and died later. They had five children - John (#111), William (#112), James Albert (#113), Edward H. (#114), and Catharine (#115). Hannah supported them with the weaving business after George's death. The family was later divided. Hannah and Edward came back to the homestead (as is shown in the 1851 census); Jacob Snider, brother of George, took John; George Asseltine took William; Joe Si Taylor took James; Jim Wells took Catharine.
