

MORTGAGE BURNING SERVICE

The Quadeville Pentecostal Church celebrated the burning of their mortgage on Sunday, September 12, 1982. The pastor and congregation rejoiced in the goodness of the Lord for a milestone in the history of this assembly. For nearly half a century, the message of God's redeeming love has been proclaimed.

The first Pentecostal message came to the Quadeville area in the early 1930's by Reverend James Montgomery with services being held in the home of Mr. Leonard Quade. Following, Reverend Lorne Hughes pioneered the work with services being held in the old Lutheran Church. He was followed by Reverend MacIntosh who ministered there for five years until 1941.

The first full-time pastor was Reverend Roy Hilton (1941-47). It was under his ministry that the old Lutheran Church was dismantled and a new church erected in 1943. This church served the needs of the congregation until 1973 when, under the ministry of Reverend Murray Steacy, the beautiful sanctuary in which they now worship was constructed.

Some former pastors who served in this assembly were Rev. Elgin Fisher, Rev. John Shannon, Rev. Ronald Peacock, Rev. Donald McEwen, Rev. Murray Steacy, Rev. Victor Jones, Rev. Lindsay MacPherson, Rev. Kenneth Lucas and Rev. Edward Canning.
